SAFE HAVENS INTERNATIONAL PRESENTS SAFE TOPICS THE FIRST 30 SECONDS

A video series for emergency preparedness, training, and evaluation for a safer environment.

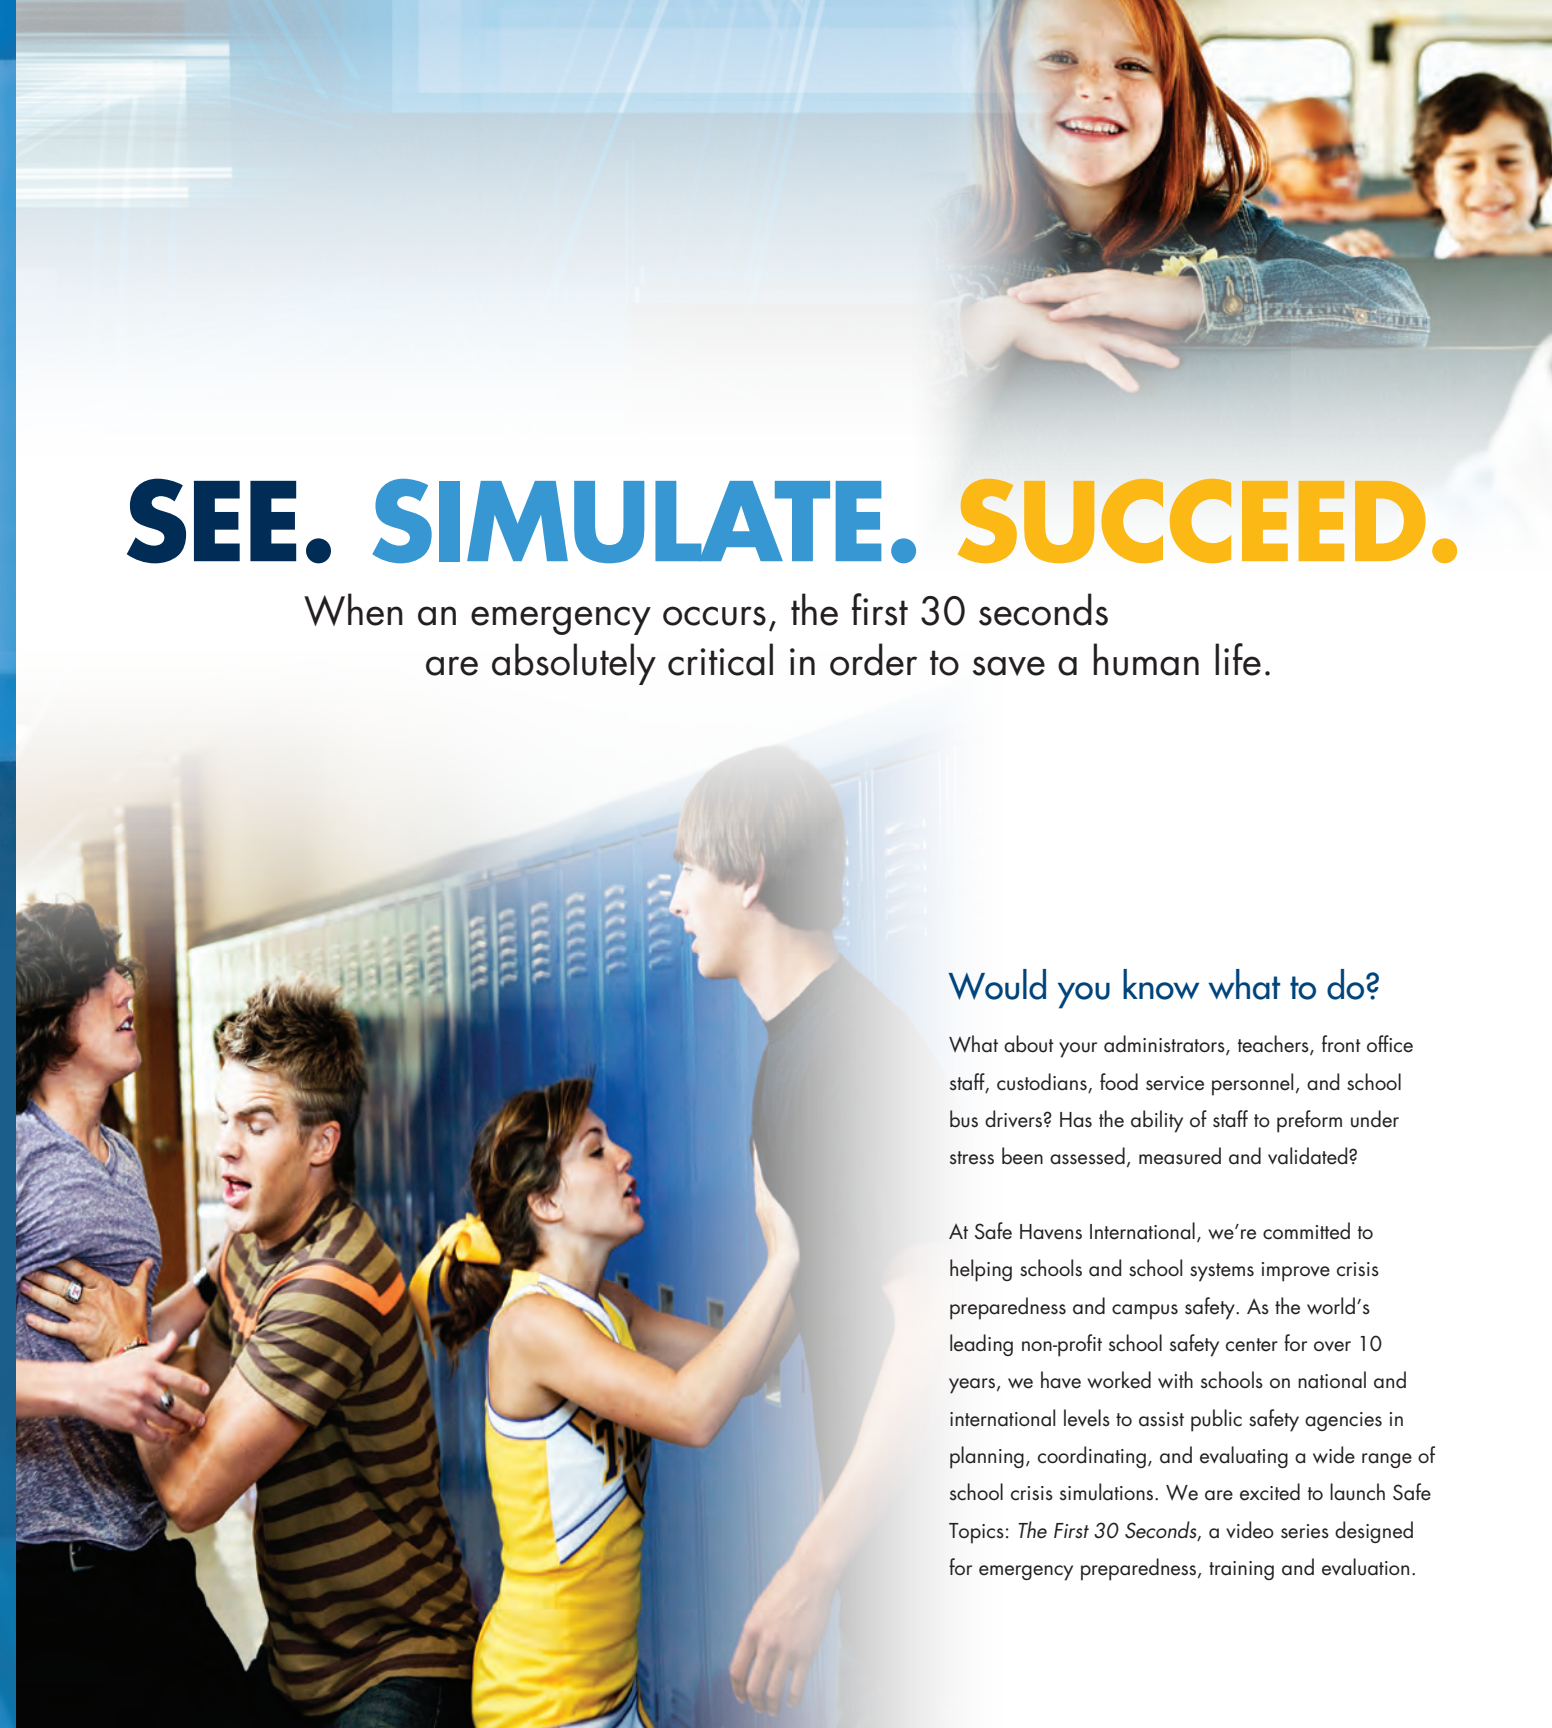

SEE. SIMULATE. SUCCEED.

When an emergency occurs, the first 30 seconds are absolutely critical in order to save a human life.

Would you know what to do?

What about your administrators, teachers, front office staff, custodians, food service personnel, and school bus drivers? Has the ability of staff to perform under stress been assessed, measured and validated?

At Safe Havens International, we're committed to helping schools and school systems improve crisis preparedness and campus safety. As the world's leading non-profit school safety center for over 10 years, we have worked with schools on national and international levels to assist public safety agencies in planning, coordinating, and evaluating a wide range of school crisis simulations. We are excited to launch Safe Topics: The First 30 Seconds, a video series designed for emergency preparedness, training and evaluation.

A Unique and Effective Way to Train and Evaluate

The First 30 Seconds is a series of realistic school-specific crisis scenarios that utilize a powerful evidence-based concept known as mental simulation.

This practice helps trainees develop and draw from their personal base of knowledge in order to quickly respond in an emergency situation. The First 30 Seconds situational videos help schools more accurately evaluate the actual state of emergency preparedness of their staff so that they can identify a crisis and an effective course of action.

Safe Topics: The First 30 Seconds scenarios cover emergency situations such as:

ACTS OF VIOLENCE

EMPLOYEE PREPAREDNESS

FIRE

MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

NATURAL DISASTERS

WEAPON THREATS

The First 30 Seconds videos are designed and organized for use in a variety of ways and are easily adapted to fit the needs of your school. They can be conducted in five- to ten-minute blocks of time during weekly or monthly staff meetings, in one-on-one situations, or in group scenarios such as annual training sessions.

The First 30 Seconds situational videos are also grouped into a variety of sets. Each set covers a wide range of topics for improved campus safety.

In each set, you will receive:

- A brief instructional booklet for training/evaluating facilitators
- An instructional disc with:
 - Instructional videos for facilitators on how to use the set for staff development
 - Instructional videos for facilitators on how to use the set as an assessment tool
- A document disc with:
 - Customizable and printable work sheets for staff development
 - Customizable and printable scoring sheets to assess the performance and progress of the staff development
 - Customizable and printable scoring sheets for staff assessment activities
 - Ten printable scripted scenarios for use in staff development and assessment activities
- A DVD with 16 video scenarios for staff development and an instructional video for participants
- A DVD with 6 video scenarios for assessment activities and an instructional video for participants.

FACT:

Small, midsize, and large school districts have demonstrated that school employees typically miss one life and death action step per scenario.
